

Clarmondial is looking for new team member

Clarmondial is an independent investment advisory company that focuses on practical, profitable and creative solutions for social and environmental businesses and their funders. Established in Switzerland in 2010, we deliver tailored advice, including investment structuring, strategy and business development support.

Our unique skillset comes from an inter-disciplinary expertise within the core team and in our networks. Besides financial structuring and private investments, we count on a solid understanding of integrated land management, including forestry and agriculture, renewable energy and energy efficiency, microfinance, agro-processing & distribution, fintech and climate finance (including climate bonds and policy).

Our clients include global institutional investors, companies, government agencies of developed and emerging countries, family offices, entrepreneurs and leading not-for-profits agencies and development institutions seeking to mobilize investment in sustainable natural resource management. The majority of our business comes from repeat business and referrals.

Clarmondial creates value by proactively designing and implementing investment solutions within the natural resource management sectors. Our clients have included both investors and companies seeking investment. With expertise and an international network in the corporate, finance and scientific communities, our multi-disciplinary team has a unique ability to catalyze financing for businesses with the potential for durable impact on society and the environment.

Clarmondial has been developing the Food Securities Fund in collaboration with several well-known agricultural industry players and investors. This first-of-kind blended finance product will address a market gap for affordable finance for experienced local agricultural stakeholders operating according to best practices in established value chains. The Food Securities Fund will create an efficient, scalable credit channel between qualified investors and emerging market agricultural companies. Its structure also includes de-risking mechanisms, such as a partial guarantee from USAID's Development Credit Authority.

Position: INVESTMENT OFFICER

Location

- Flexible between major European capitals, USA, Latin America and sub-Saharan Africa
- Proximity to a major airport and reliable infrastructure take priority

Your role

- Source, due diligence and manage loans to emerging market companies in agricultural value chains, especially for the Food Securities Fund
- Potentially support advisory mandates (e.g. with financial structuring, transaction management)
- Potentially contribute to thought leadership and research projects (e.g. on blended finance, impact investing and monitoring)

Preferred profile

- 10+ years of hands-on private investments experience, in particular in emerging markets. Ideally in agriculture and food systems
- Agriculture debt / credit experience
- Experience in fund management and other fund / financial services
- International background / multicultural
- Self-starter, flexible, able to work unsupervised (remotely) and in an entrepreneurial environment
- Good attention to detail and high work standards, e.g. on deadlines, adherence to templates and policies
- Interested in environmental finance and impact investing
- Sense of humor

Language

- Fluent in English, both oral and written
- Ideally with additional language relevant to the company's operations (e.g. Spanish, French).

What we offer

- Opportunity to be part of a growing team in a new business line
- Exposure to a range of different opportunities and clients
- Possibility of upside on transactions & business growth

A sample of work and references will be requested during the selection process.

The company is not in a position to sponsor visa applications.

Clarmondial is an equal opportunity employer.

Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. Please email your CV and motivation for applying to hr@clarmondial.com with the subject "JOB AD IO - YOUR NAME".